Re: Class Action

Dear Mr. Connors:

On July 19, 1985, we met to discuss the above-captioned grievance at the fourth step of our contractual grievance procedure.

The issue in this grievance is whether supervisors are performing bargaining-unit work when they input data into RMIS in violation of the National Agreement.

After reviewing this matter, we mutually agreed that no national interpretive issue is fairly presented in this case. This grievance is being remanded to the parties at Step 3 for further fact development. Whether supervisors are performing bargaining-unit functions in relation to data input into RMIS must be determined through review of the respective job descriptions of the individuals involved and comparison to the actual duties in dispute.

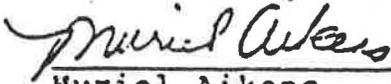

The parties at this level agree that RMIS is a multi-user system utilized by both bargaining and nonbargaining unit employees in accordance with their individual responsibilities.

Accordingly, we agreed to remand this case to the parties at Step 3 for further processing including arbitration, if necessary.

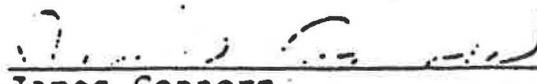

Mr. James Connors

Please sign, and return the enclosed copy of this letter as your acknowledgment of agreement to remand this case.

Sincerely,

Muriel Aikens
